The Communist Manifesto (originally the Communist Manifesto) is an 1848 political pamphlet by the German philosophers Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels. It is one of the earliest expositions of the Marxist approach to politics and the development of society. While its main ideas were developed by Friedrich Engels in the early 1840s, Marx completed it in 1847, and it was in this form that it was first published in 1848. The Manifesto has been published in several editions and presented in more than 30 countries around the world. The manifesto is generally thought of as the first section of Karl Marx's Social Critique, published in 1866.
