QFX2QIF is a utility software designed to help you convert QBX files into QIF files. This utility can easily convert QBX files into QIF format in a few easy steps. Share this: In a development that had been anticipated for weeks and months, former tennis star Andre Agassi announced Tuesday he is running for the U.S. House seat left vacant by Rep. Robert Wexler's retirement, setting up a high-profile contest between himself and fellow Democrat Howard Berman, the former speaker of the House. The winner will face Republican Jan Schakowsky, the only other declared candidate who has raised more than $100,000 in contributions. The open seat is California's 25th District, a Southern California district that includes the coastal communities of Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego counties and portions of San Bernardino County. The seat is considered in play for both parties because the district is a key one. It stretches as far north as Pasadena and South Pasadena, a Jewish suburb of Los Angeles, and as far south as the border of Orange County and the Inland Empire. Agassi, a six-time Grand Slam winner, declared his candidacy as a Democrat. Berman, a political veteran and former chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, is a centrist who once considered running for California governor. Both men have raised money for their campaigns; during the last quarter of 2010, Berman's campaign had cash on hand of $1.3 million while Agassi's had $2.1 million. Berman said earlier this week that he will "fight" Agassi "tooth and nail." "I am proud of the work I did on getting health care for seniors," Berman told a group of supporters earlier this week. "We should learn from it, and fight it every day." Earlier this year, Agassi said that anyone who would support Democrats would get his support. At the time, Agassi and Schakowsky said they wanted to see that the top two contenders — one Republican and one Democrat — win, and that the winner be the one who would best serve the district. Agassi is not the only big name expected to be thrown into the contest. His friend Bill Clinton once met with Agassi about running for president. Former White House Press Secretary Joe Lockhart said that he spoke with Clinton about the possibility.
