StarForce 2005 game released in 2006 contains a defective version of StarForce for Windows XP and Windows Vista 32bit. State Attorney General, Jan M. Vazquez has taken the matter of indictments against three former directors of a failed commercial bank, one of the country's largest, to another state court. Vazquez filed three indictments in the Superior Court of Puerto Rico, Ponce, charging former bank officials, Roberto Cerbo, Ricardo Díaz de León and Augusto Peñagaricano, with violations under the current version of the Bankruptcy Law that takes effect April 1, according to statements by the attorney general's office. On Jan. 23, Vazquez presented the subpoenas for the trial to Superior Court Judge Mónica L. Polanco. The former board members had become targets in an investigation by the State Insurance Fund, SIF, a unit of the Department of Justice which oversees fiscal mismanagement in the public sector. The bank, Central de Ahorro y Crédito, was the largest in Puerto Rico, and its downfall was a blow to the island's banking system. It collapsed under a mountain of bad loans after accepting $3.2 billion in bad loans from the SIF, a unit of the agency charged with insuring the financial institution. Vazquez's office said that as of Jan. 15, the state claimed $1.1 billion in losses from the bank's collapse. The attorney general's office said that the charges were based on Vazquez's findings that the three former directors were not compliant with policies at the bank, and that a succession of illegal acts had occurred. "The three former board members were not compliant with banking procedures," said the statement of the attorney general's office, adding that the violations of internal policies at the bank took place "from the time the bank was created in 2001 until the institution was placed in bankruptcy in June of 2010." Vazquez's statement said that documents were seized as evidence during the investigation. All the alleged felonies occurred in 2009 and 2010, according to the attorney general's office. Roberto Cerbo, the former vice president of the bank, and Ricardo Díaz de León, the former vice chairman of the bank's board, were the first
